3.0 Workshop venue and equipment for the upcoming PDD EL workshop (April 18) were discussed, developed, and the following points determined:

a. The workshop will be presented twice (two sessions) in order to reach as broad an audience as possible and gather more data/information; each session is one hour each.

c. Powerpoint should include title of session; and definition of EL.

4.0 Workshop Program

Part I: Icebreaker Activity, [10 mins., group work]

table members share and list their most vivid learning experiences – was there an occasion of an outstanding learning experience or can you highlight a moment or experience in which powerful learning took place? Reflect on a moment of your own learning history, either in or outside of the classroom – what remains vivid to you? What was your "peak" moment, or the 'aha' moment? And, why was it vivid? (This activity is mean to help suggest that EL is a powerful way of learning.

Part II: Introduction of workshop objectives, definition of EL [5 mins., presenters Grady, Haco, Paul]

The objectives of the workshop are stated; some EL examples are obtained from icebreaker; definition of EL is explained, and current practices in EL, broadly speaking; then, pass out survey, explaining that attendees will be asked to fill this out at end of session, but may want to begin reviewing the survey as we go.

Part III: Application/examples of EL, technological and fieldwork [10 mins., presenters Guy, Bill?]

G. Erwin, B. Bilodeau touch on EL applications (Guy on the ipad; Bill on fieldwork).

Part IV: Attendees take Survey here? [Attendees do individual work, 10 mins]

(Note: the survey is already passed out (after the intro), this is the time set aside for individual review/reflection of the survey).

Part V: Group Discussion [10 mins., group work]

Workshop participants discuss EL possibilities.

Part VI: Report Back from Group Discussion [5 mins]

Tables report back highlights/results from the table discussions;

Part VII: Take questions from attendees [10 mins]

(Note: While people are asking questions, this time is for people to go back and refine, or add, to survey comments based on discussion.)
